 Why winter swimming is important:

Winter is often when swimmers make some of their greatest improvements. With fewer distractions and a focus on developing technique, confidence, and water safety skills, regular attendance helps ensure that progress continues uninterrupted. Whether your child is learning the basics or refining advanced skills, every lesson contributes to their growth and success in the water.

We encourage all swimmers to stay committed during winter — every lesson attended is another step towards confidence, safety, and success in the water.

Wishing you and your families a warm, healthy winter season.

Warm regards, Irene and Noreen
